Celebrating Our Ministries!

Each fall All Saints’ begins a new program year to celebrate of our community and give thanks to God for our many ministries. The Parade of Ministry Banners will take place during the procession at both the 9:00 and 11:15 a.m. worship services, with the Ministry Fair between them.

Expect a fun-filled morning. Meet representatives from each ministry and group who will be on hand to welcome, answer questions, provide education, and encourage participation in the various ministries. Over 80 ministries and groups will be represented; there is definitely something for everyone here at All Saints’!

Make plans to be here on this exciting day and learn how you can become part of any of these fantastic opportunities.

Making a Practice of Generosity

How do you practice generosity? I am a cradle Episcopalian who grew up going to St. David’s in Roswell. I’ve lived in Brookwood Hills for seven years and have been at All Saints’ for about 8 years. I regularly serve as a lector, intercessor, usher, and member of the vestry, as well as, in other ministries, social groups, and activities at All Saints’. This year I’ve added Chair of the Annual Canvass to my list and that has me thinking about how I practice generosity. My life in the church and in my family has certainly shaped my perspective on generosity and has also given me the opportunity to practice generosity. I give my time, my energy, and my talents, but, just as importantly, I give of my finances. One of the practices of generosity that was modeled for me as a child was tithing. My family gave 10% of our gross income, pre-tax, to the church. In my adulthood, I’ve taken on tithing for myself, as one of my practices of generosity. It works for me. I wonder what practice of generosity works for you?

Grace Notes

Standing ovation for Bradley and Lelia Pratt and the fantastic team of picnic volunteers who made the largest parish picnic ever so much fun and so welcoming for the Mainwarings.

Thanks to Mary Brennan and Amanda Schroeder for craft donations to Children’s Ministries.

Much gratitude to Abby Copelin for helping to clean out and organize the Children’s Formation closets.

Grateful thanks to Jim Gibson on piano, and Janet and Pete Todd on guitar, harmonica, and percussion, for accompanying our Intergenerational Sing-A-Long.

Thank you to Joann and Dick Nagy for popping fresh popcorn for everyone at the Sing-A-Long.

Saints & Service
“Many hands make light work.” Join us for this multi-generational service project and help us make sandwiches for Emmaus House, Midtown Assistance Center, and Crossroads ministries. They will distribute them to people who use walk-in assistance centers. We will keep some sandwiches in our freezers for those in need on our block. It’s a lot of fun with a purpose. Last year we made 900 sandwiches in 35 minutes! All are invited, and bring a friend to help!

Sunday, September 3
10:15–11:15 a.m. in Ellis Hall

Jezebels: Women’s Book Study
The group will begin by focusing on our summer reading book, A Constellation of Vital Phenomena by Anthony Marra, and we will also select our next book they will read. Jezebels is a group of All Saints’ women who have been meeting for about 10 years. We read and discuss a book for several weeks, allowing for an in-depth exploration of the text resulting in lively and informative discussions. While not a Bible study, our book choices may have

Contemplative Prayer
“Be still and know that I am God” (Psalm 46:10). Let us learn about the centuries-old practice of contemplative prayer, avail ourselves of readings for reflection and discussion, and set aside time to engage in the discipline of centering prayer as a way to build communities of faith that bond us in mutual friendship and Christ’s love. All are welcome, from novices to longtime practitioners.

All Saints’ to us is a compilation of faces. Paige has a great example from her days working in development at All Saints’: Marianne Cosgrove was a volunteer in her 90s (not a volunteer from the 90s, she was age 94 when Paige met her!) Marianne would take MARTA to the church to help with the annual stewardship mailing (unrelated, her Varsity lunch order was two chili dogs with cheese, French fries and a Frosted Orange… this was the diet of a 94-year-old!). Marianne was one of Paige’s first friends outside of her demographic, and she has All Saints’ to thank for that. We have All Saints’ to thank for Greg Giornelli, whose “Jesus on the Front Page” class introduced us to solutions for Atlanta issues we care about. He makes us smarter and better, as does Kim Jackson, when she preaches or when she organizes adult formation classes – a favorite was one taught by a local Imam.

We give money to “faces and places”; to communities that matter to us. Sometimes we donate to an organization so the physical place can become as remarkable as the people who make up the organization. When we’re making gifts to the All Saints’ annual canvass we think about the staff who make our worship and Christian formation possible. We are grateful for those who are shaping us and our sons. We are giving to the people we know and love: Marie Louise Muhumuza, Reese Johnson, Karol Kimmell and Kathy Roberts. And we are giving to the future – Arjun was on the rector search committee, and we are thrilled Simon is here and will be supportive of any capital efforts he envisions for our parish.

In terms of where we are with our philanthropy journey, Paige’s development career certainly informs how we approach our giving. She has a deep appreciation for how important the annual fund is. We know that the annual campaign is the life blood of a non-profit! We were solicited by an Atlanta non-profit for our first “stretch” gift last year.

At first, we thought we couldn’t accommodate the amount we were asked to consider but then we had a “sit down” conversation and were able to think of ways that allowed us to reach a goal beyond what we thought was possible. Part of our engagement in that campaign included hosting an event at our home – we could honestly say we did more than we thought we could and found it to be a joyful experience, and we invited others to join us in thinking beyond writing a check. In terms of how we approach our annual gift to All Saints’, one of us works for the government and the other works for a nonprofit, so our salaries are consistent – there’s never a lucrative bonus at the end of the year – but we increase every year because we think that’s important. And all of our thinking culminates into our planned giving. We have joined the All Saints’ Cornerstone Society. We have declared that All Saints’ will benefit the most of the organizations listed in our will, because it is our most important community. It is the least we can do considering how much our lives are enriched by this place. And we never forget all those faces.

Prayerfully consider making your pledge for 2018. The pledge process is a vital one at All Saints’ and helps create our budget to make our ministry possible. Look for your pledge card in mid-September or go online today to allsaintsatlanta.org/stewardship. Thank you!

Arjun and Paige Srinivasan: Thinking Beyond Then Writing the Check

Arjun and Paige Srinivasan, with sons Joe and Jack
Gary Russell and Ann Higdon:
The Generosity of Time and Spirit

Growing up, my mother took me to hospitals, nursing homes and funeral homes to visit the sick, the homebound and to comfort the bereaved. A passion for caring for others in our large Nashville church family was something instilled in me since the age of 9. My grandfather always told me that life was all about relationships and connection in the service of others. Ann Higdon and I first connected when we shared the wonderful bond of pastoral care ministry. We were part of the charter class of Befrienders almost 20 years ago. Befrienders is a program used to connect parishioners to seek and give care within the parish. Whether as Eucharistic Ministers, Eucharistic Visitors or in any pastoral situation, Ann and I could always share our commitment to Christ and His Church.

When my partner Jim Clay was in a coronary care unit (CCU) for three months at Piedmont in 2014, I did a nightly overview of Jim’s condition, procedures and those that had visited him. Ann always replied with daily prayers and reflections in addition to her visits and support. Then when I had a kidney biopsy in November 2014 and started chemo, Ann continued with these wonderful “Daily Connects.” I spent three months at Piedmont and Emory Rehab in 2015 and Ann kept on with the DC’s, even when I was much too ill to answer. I returned home and though wheelchair bound, her Eucharistic Visits meant that the Daily Connects gave me hope and my faith stayed connected to my church. Being able to walk and write again after months of therapy, I went to my home office and kept that daily connection going. There was always a hymn, a prayer or a reflection coming from Ann as we shared the events of each other’s day. Ann tends toward brevity whereas I tend to respond with lots of verbiage and a hymn, prayer or a Bible verse for her. The “Daily Connects” are a testament to the generosity of time and spirit we both keep our own Prayer Lists, remembering and sharing the needs and the blessings not only at All Saints’, but of our “Given Families” as well. So it is that, thanks to Ann, our “Daily Connects” continue and will forever. All Saints’ is all about connection, relationships and, for me, “Chosen Family.”

Ann Higdon and Gary Russell

I grew up in Sandy Springs and my family attended St. Martins Episcopal Church. My siblings and I would fight each other for the chance to put our envelope in the offering plate. One time I asked my father why he was so generous to the church. He replied, “it’s the right thing to do.” I started small with my own giving and continue to try to give more and make impactful gifts when I can.

I moved back down to Atlanta from D.C. four years ago to attend business school at Emory. I found All Saints’ to be modern, diverse and convenient to where I live. I don’t have a lot of time to get involved and I find that I can give financial gifts. People my age are trying to save money for big expenses in their lives like home-buying. I’m in investment banking and I watched the impact that money had on people’s lives during the financial crisis. But I find that by giving financial support I can, in a small way, help the good work of our ministries and programs like Threads and Covenant. What I have in life is through the grace of God, so it is only appropriate I give back. I come to church fairly regularly but now that its fall, I’ll be headed to the Falcons games right after the service!
Grace Williams:
The Generosity of Sisterhood Through Sunday School

Ellen Begley Weaver and I, along with Taylor Page and Virginia Parker grew up here at All Saints’. And we’re in a group text we’ve named “Four Peas in a Pod,” which I have always thought about as a place where we share important life updates, support one another through tough times, and just generally celebrate our bond, which is honestly a step above friendship and closer to sisterhood. I really can’t overstate how amazing being a part of this group with Ellen is. It’s so reassuring to know, even when we are far apart, that we have our little virtual hangout in our purses, pinging a couple of times a day with these little reminders of how much we love each other. But y’all, let me be real for a minute: like 90% of what we actually text each other about is reality television. Other than that, it’s discussing new emojis as they come out, random little bits of All Saints’ church news/gossip, and, yeah, boys!*

Bride Ellen Begley Weaver and bridesmaids Grace Williams, Virginia Parker, and Taylor Page.

Alvin Moore:
Bring Ye the Tithes Into God’s House!

Through my Baptist upbringing, my family was all about volunteering. For a long time through volunteering I thought I was receiving all the gifts God had in store for me... Years later I told Geoffrey Hoare how I was giving back to the church with all my volunteering and Geoffrey leaned over to me and said: “Let me put it to you this way, if you were at the table of a big transaction going on: where someone was going to give you something, would you get up from the table and leave half the deal on the table?”

“No!” I responded, “I’d take it all!” and he went on, “by not giving money as well as time, you are leaving half your blessings on the table.” Through soul-searching and some leaps of faith I decided to give that a try and to my great surprise, my blessings increased tenfold. I can’t even begin to describe how the act of making a pledge fundamentally changed my life. It changed the way that I think about service and the way I relate to God. Volunteering without giving money is leaving half the blessings on the table. All Saints’ does incredible things in God’s kingdom. But the church doesn’t run on air or on the backs of volunteers mowing the lawn. Just step out and trust God. I promise you, your blessings will increase. Making my pledge has helped me understand the words of Malachi with which my Baptist pastor began each offertory: Bring ye the tithes into my house That there might be meat in my house. Prove me now herewith, says the Lord of Hosts, And see that I do not open the windows of heaven and pour you out blessings that you will not have room enough to receive.*
Mary Wyche Lesesne:
Generosity in The Communion of Saints

The image I like best for All Saints’ is the “communion of Saints”. In my mind it’s a picture of a whole line – almost like Noah’s ark and the line of animals- it’s the line of people who have come before you. And each one of us are becoming part of that endless stream that is All Saints’ worldwide. It’s a comforting thought as this is my heart and home community. My religious and spiritual truths come from this place. I first arrived at All Saints’ in 1965 – the rector at the time, Frank Ross, just “hooked” me – he was the most thoughtful and provocative preacher I’d ever heard. I then started singing in the choir in the 1970s and that was my other “hook”. I tell others to get “hooked” into All Saints’ and give generously in support of the big things like refugee ministries but also in support of the everyday things. Imagine what the church would be like if we had no candles, no music, no Sunday School – all that is here because we joined that procession of saints.

Ministry Fair
10:20–11:05 a.m., Kennedy Courtyard

Ministry/group leaders and chairpersons, we need your assistance with the following:

• Banners are in the Horseshoe Room (second floor of Egleston Hall). Please stop by on Sunday or during the week (9:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday) to check on your banner. If your group needs a new banner, foam board is available for your use. We will provide yard sticks and a staple gun on Sunday, September 10, to attach a handle to your banner.

• Enlist one of your members to check on or (create) your group’s banner.

• Enlist one or two volunteers to carry your group’s banner at the beginning of the 9:00 and 11:15 a.m. worship services. Banner carriers should arrive fifteen minutes before their assigned service to line up outside the church for the procession.

• Enlist one or two volunteers to sit at your group’s Ministry Fair table between the 9:00 and 11:15 a.m. worship services.

• Provide the literature or photos to be available at your information table. We will provide each group with a sign up sheet, pencils and a sign stating the name of your ministry.

If your group needs a new banner, foam board is available for your use. We will provide yard sticks and a staple gun on Sunday, September 10, to attach a handle to your banner.

• Enlist one of your members to check on or (create) your group’s banner.

• Enlist one or two volunteers to carry your group’s banner at the beginning of the 9:00 and 11:15 a.m. worship services. Banner carriers should arrive fifteen minutes before their assigned service to line up outside the church for the procession.

• Enlist one or two volunteers to sit at your group’s Ministry Fair table between the 9:00 and 11:15 a.m. worship services.

• Provide the literature or photos to be available at your information table. We will provide each group with a sign up sheet, pencils and a sign stating the name of your ministry.

For more information, contact Janet Todd at janet-todd@att.net.

Samaritan Readers
Where We Want to Live, by Ryan Gravel
Samaritan Readers seek to understand the question “Who is my neighbor?” through the exploration of memoir and non-fiction. This fall, we will focus on the question of “Who is Atlanta?” looking deeply at concerns surrounding environment, affordable housing, racial equality, and faith diversity.

Wednesdays, beginning September 13
6:30–7:30 p.m. in P307
For more information, email Jen Waters at faithhopelove42@yahoo.com.

Saints On Tap
Join The Rev. Tim Black at Manuel’s Tavern for the first Saints On Tap of the new program year. Young Adults gather each month in different local pubs for conversation and community. All young adults are welcome!

Thursday, September 14
Manuel’s Tavern, 602 North Highland Avenue NE, Atlanta, GA 30307

Times and locations vary each month; be sure to check All Saints’ Monthly and our online parish calendar.

For more information contact The Rev. Tim Black at tblack@allsaintsatlanta.org.

Refugee Ministries Move-in Day
Help set up an apartment for a newly arriving refugee family. Volunteers are needed to drive a Uhaul truck, unload the closet at All Saints’, unload items from the truck to the apartment, grocery shop for a week for the family (a list will be provided and you will be reimbursed) and put groceries away in their kitchen, unpack the kitchen, make beds, hang pictures, and provide lunch and beverages for volunteers.

Saturday, September 16
10:30 a.m.–2:00 p.m.
If you are interested in donating items to help the family get through their first new weeks here, please view our signup at signupgenius.com/go/4090e4ca4ab2aa2ff2-donations1.
To donate or volunteer contact Louisa Merchant at 404–403–5908 or louisam@allsaintsatlanta.org.

Thank you for providing a warm welcome to a family in need!

Reconnecting with Holy Spirit through Community
This is an age-based discussion class that will connect with our Kanuga speaker Heidi Heivercamp’s theme: Reconnecting with the Holy Spirit. For those going to the retreat, this will be a lead-in for our discussions at Kanuga. For those not attending Kanuga, in addition to the two Sundays of age group based discussion groups, there will be a plenary wrap-up discussion on October 1. This will be a great way for all the Saints to be a part of this important conversation.

Sundays, September 17, 24, October 1
10:20–11:05 a.m., P301
For more information contact The Rev. Kim Jackson at 404-267-4276 or kjackson@allsaintsatlanta.org.

Novel Theology
A Gentleman in Moscow, by Amor Towles
In 1922, Count Alexander Rostov is deemed an unrepentant aristocrat by a Bolshevik tribunal, and is sentenced to house arrest in the Metropol, a grand hotel across the street from the Kremlin. He must now live in an attic room while some of the most tumultuous decades in Russian history are unfolding outside the hotel’s doors. Unexpectedly, his reduced circumstances provide him entry into a much larger world of emotional discovery. Join us for an exciting discussion!

Wednesday, September 20
7:00–8:00 p.m. in P307
For more information contact Amelia Tuttle at amelia.tuttle9@gmail.com or visit allsaintsatlanta.org/novel-theology.

Raymond Chenault’s Concert Favorites

This two-CD set features 18 organ solo pieces on the magnificent James G. Kenan Memorial Organ, built by John-Paul Buzard of Champaign, Illinois. This project has been in the works since the installation of the organ in 2003 and features many of Ray’s favorite organ works from the 19th and 20th-century French, Belgian and Dutch organ schools, many of which have been rarely heard or recorded until now. Pick one up in the church music suite for $30 or purchase your copy online at allsaintsatlanta.org/music/all-saints-cd-collection.
The deadline for the October issue is Friday, September 8. Please make your submission via our website, at allsaintsatlanta.org/news-and-events/announcements/. Thank you!

Dr. Angela D. Sims Lectures at All Saints’

Lynched: A Lunchtime Book Discussion with author Dr. Angela D. Sims
We welcome Dr. Angela Sims to All Saints’ for a Brown Bag Lunch & Learn discussion about her book, Lynched: The Power of Memory in a Culture of Terror. In this book, she explores many powerful and thought-provoking themes while “revealing much about the bond between memory and moral formation. She discovers the courage and hope inherent in the power of recall.” The book is based upon the stories of those who witnessed lynchings or who were almost lynched themselves and by “tending to the words of these witnesses, Sims exposes not only a culture of fear and violence but the practice of story and memory as well as the narrative hope within a renewed possibility for justice.” This is an opportunity for a more intimate conversation before her evening presentation.

Thursday, September 21
11:00 a.m.–1:00 p.m., in the Ross Room

Lynching and Moral Injury: Dr. Angela D. Sims Lecture
The Episcopal Diocese of Atlanta’s Beloved Community: Commission for Dismantling Racism and the Absalom Jones Center for Racial Healing invite you to attend a lecture given by Dr. Angela D. Sims, author of Lynched: The Power of Memory in a Culture of Terror. By rooting her work in oral histories, Dr. Sims gives voice to the memories of African American elders who remember lynching not only as individual acts but as a culture of violence, domination, and fear.

Thursday, September 21
7:00–9:00 p.m. in Ellis Hall
This event is sponsored by the Diocesan Beloved Community Commission. The event is free but registration is required. For more information visit connecting.episcopalatlanta.org/events/2017/9/21/dr-angela-d-sims-lecture

For more information, contact The Rev. Kim Jackson at 404-267-4276 or kjackson@allsaintsatlanta.org.
