Celebrating New Beginnings

Over the next few months, we will be celebrating a number of new beginnings at All Saints’ as we welcome three incredibly talented new members to our staff team. This June, following several months of work by the Parish Life task force that has been studying our strengths and opportunities for growth as a parish, we will welcome a new Parish Life Director, Jill Gossett. Jill as been a part of the All Saints’ community as a parishioner for many years, and knows what we value and love about this church at its heart.

For the past fourteen years, Jill has worked for the Fragile Kids Foundation, which a couple of years ago merged with FOCUS, whose work helps children who are medically fragile or have significant developmental and/or physical disabilities, offering comfort with hospital visits and support groups, education, fun activities for parents and kids, and help to make equipment available to children in need. Jill’s work with them has run the gamut from Director of Development and event planner extraordinaire, to Interim Executive Director. Along with her years working for the Blue Cross Blue Shield Foundation of Georgia, Jill will bring to her new role as Parish Life Director an incredible array of gifts. It was when her reference calls let me know that if I didn’t hire Jill they would, that I knew we were on to a good thing! Jill will begin her work at All Saints’ this summer. Please do join me in wishing Jill well for her ministry here. I know that you will love her as indeed you love all of our staff.

Joining Jill as a summer arrival is our new Associate Rector for Young Adults and Innovation, The Rev. Sarah Stewart. Sarah’s journey to All Saints’ weaves a wonderful path through our shared American life. Born in Annapolis, and raised in Northern California, Sarah earned her Bachelor’s in Denver, Colorado, and her Masters of Divinity from Yale Divinity School, New Haven. For twelve years, Sarah worked as a financial consultant at Charles Schwab & Co., work requiring a faithful persistence, attention to detail, and an array of soft skills to work with plenty of people new and familiar day-in-day-out, all of which is experience that will set Sarah up incredibly well in her new role at All Saints’. Following a dozen years in the world of finance, Sarah responded to the call to serve the church as a priest, making her way from parishes in Connecticut, Manhattan, and most recently in Wichita, Kansas. With family sojourns in rural Alabama and upstate New York, nobody can say of Sarah that she comes to Atlanta not having seen her fair share of this beautiful country of ours.

Sarah’s ministry at All Saints’ will focus on helping us reach out and build relationships with the population around us in Midtown and further afield into metro-Atlanta. College students and young professionals will be a core group she will seek to help us be in community with, on and off our block. Sarah will help imagine innovative pathways for ministry across our church life and as we build relationships with other faiths.
We stayed busy in May with confirmations and “moving ups.”
Above and right: Youth confirmands were welcomed into the church by The Rt. Rev. Robert Wright, and invited to assist in celebrating the eucharist.

Right, parishioner Anne Barge Clegg, designer of wedding and evening gowns, spoke at the Women’s Lunch. Below: Our fifth graders “moved up” to The Attic, where they’ll continue formation studies next year with the Youth group.

traditions. Her priestly ministry will also be expressed in Sarah’s leadership as a preacher and celebrant, and in her part of our clergy team offering pastoral care to the parish. Sarah’s first Sunday is June 16th, and I do hope that you will be able to celebrate her arrival with all of the love and care that makes All Saints’ home for us all.

The third of our new staff arrivals is The Rev. Dr. Andy Barnett who will take up the position of Associate Rector for Worship and Adult Formation. Andy comes to All Saints’ from Washington National Cathedral where he has served as Associate for Worship and Music. An accomplished musician, Andy has bachelors degrees from Oberlin Conservatory of Music and Oberlin University, and studied for the priesthood at Yale Divinity School alongside the Yale Institute of Sacred Music. During his time at Yale, Andy founded the Theodicy Jazz Collective, who made a visit to lead the music at the Jazz Mass earlier this year at All Saints’, so Andy knows well how highly we love and value worship as a church on this block. Andy recently received his Doctor of Ministry in Congregational Mission and Leadership from Luther Seminary in Minnesota, his home state. Andy’s ministry as a priest and musician has seen him lead worship across the United States and England. During his years at the National Cathedral, Andy designed and launched a new 9:00 a.m. worship service with innovative music and liturgy. Prior to the Cathedral, Andy served at another All Saints’, in Beverly Hills, and at two episcopal schools, one in Los Angeles and another in New York.

Andy’s ministry at All Saints’ will oversee our worship life, both for our Sunday morning services, and in leading the design and development of a new Sunday evening service that will seek to retain the excellence of the Anglican tradition and innovatively expand our framework of worship and music to connect with populations around us we have yet to meet. Drawing on this ministry experience and his doctoral work, Andy will also lead our adult formation ministries, seeking to deepen and widen how we walk together on the sacred journey as individuals and as a church. Andy will be with us in late September, after he has had the opportunity to catch his breath from finishing his tenure in Washington.

Each of these new staff members will bring to All Saints’ a considerable array of talents and experience. Through their ministry, we will be loved and inspired, challenged and drawn closer together and to that which God might have us do in this place and time. Please join me in praying for Jill, Sarah, and Andy as they say farewell to their current workplaces and communities, asking God that the Spirit might supply the strength and wisdom they will need to accomplish all that their hearts draw them to here among us.

With deep gratitude for every minister on this block, the baptized of Jesus Christ our Lord!

Peace,

Simon+

Celebrating Pentecost in Dance and Songs

On Pentecost, we celebrate the Holy Spirit descending upon the earliest followers of Jesus, as described in the second chapter of the Book of Acts, which is why it is often referred to as the birthday of the church. The Holy Spirit is often depicted with images of a dove, and also of fire, so we wear red on this day to honor the Holy Spirit, whose work within and around us sustains and guides us in our lives of love and service.

Dances for Peace: A Service of Pentecost
Dances and Songs
At this year's Pentecost service, we will celebrate the birthday of the church with a multicultural, intergenerational celebration to give thanks for the beautiful diversity of the human family in all its forms. We will fuse movement with multicultural worship as refugee friends who participate in our Refugee Ministries program from East and Central Africa, the Middle East, Bhutan/Nepal, and Myanmar lead us in the dance and song. Don’t forget to wear red (the color of Pentecost) and come share in the beauty and joy of the celebration!

Sunday, June 9, 10:00 a.m. worship service, in the church
For more information, contact Louisa Merchant at louisam@allsaintsatlanta.org.

Information about the church and our ministries and programs will be available to all who gather for worship services, tours, concerts, funerals, and weddings. Thank you to architect Laura Howard and designer Sherry Terlemezian for creating this piece that is so in keeping with the interior of All Saints’.
